Re: Data Science Internship Completion

This is to certify that Yiran Jing from the University of Sydney completed a data science internship placement with Taysols from the 24th of June 2019 to the 2nd of August 2019. Yiran worked under the guidance of Taysols' Chief Data Scientist Dr. Daniel Bassett. During Yiran's time at Taysols she assisted with on-going machine learning projects and carried out internal research into the combination of machine learning and financial forecasting. The activities were carried out primarily on the AWS platform utilizing AWS SageMaker, AWS Forecast and Lambda. All data science work was carried out using the Python programming language.

Whilst with Taysols, Yiran was an invaluable member of the team and contributed above & beyond what was expected of an intern. Her attention to detail along with her ability to produce high quality documentation was exemplary. I have no hesitation in recommending Yiran for future data science roles.
